FRANCHISE ELECTION TOMORROW

PEOPLE GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO VOTE ON GAS FRANCHISE

SCHANTZ COMPANY ACTING IN GOOD FAITH AND PROPOSES TO BUILD UP TO DATE GAS PLANT HERE.

TOMORROW the voters of Daytona will determine whether or not they desire the realization of the proposed ordinance to grant to the Schantz Electric, Ice and Water company permission to locate and maintain a gas plant in the city of Daytona. The polls will open at 8:00 o'clock and close at sunset as prescribed by law, and the same persons will be qualified to vote who voted in the recent municipal election the 14th of the month.

If the ordinance is ratified it is the intention of the company to commence work immediately on the location of the plant and have the material shipped here at the same time as the material for the systems at Seabreeze and Daytona Beach.

Mr. Clark, the president of the company, publishes elsewhere in today's paper a signed statement agreeing to install with the original plant mains along Ridgewood and Palmetto avenues and Beach street and all cross streets between South street on the south and Fairview avenue on the north, inclusive.

Some people are under the impression that in granting this franchise they are granting to the company exclusive rights for a gas system. Such is not the case, however, the laws of Florida providing that exclusive franchises cannot be granted by any city or town in this state. A dozen franchises can be granted for the operation of gas plants or any other public utility if a city council so desires, and the ordinance is ratified by the people.

The Daily News believes the franchise should be ratified. The rates proposed to be charged are no higher than the average rates elsewhere in Florida and the south generally outside of seaport cities, in which coal can be delivered much cheaper than at an interior town. The people have been "shouting" for gas for some time and while a number of capitalists have come here to look over the field that is as far as the project ever got until the Schantz company took up the matter. Deland is crying for someone to install a gas plant there, one having been started several years ago and then abandoned. Gas is a convenience that many of the present residents of Daytona can appreciate because they have formerly lived in cities that enjoyed a gas system, and it will be attractive here for fuel as it will be much more economical than the fuel now in use.

The ordinance to be voted on tomorrow thoroughly safeguards the city in every respect and is published elsewhere in today's Daily News that everyone may become familiar with its provisions.

A broken wire falling across a charged wire just back of the city hall early Sunday evening caused a flash and sputtering similar to a skyrocket, and gave the impression to people on the streets that a meteor was falling. The live wire fell to the ground and it was necessary to shut off the current for it to be removed. The trouble was caused by a wire burning in two.

BUILDINGS ARE DESTROYED
STOCK KILLED BY HUNDREDS

WIRES ARE DOWN FOLLOWING
TERRIFIC WIND IN ARKANSAS AND FULL REPORTS CAN NOT BE OBTAINED.

STUTTGART, Ark., Feb. 26.— Twenty are known to be dead and at least 100 injured in a cyclone, which swept over the southwest part of Arkansas last Sunday night.

Farm houses and forests were leveled by the wind and hundreds of head of stock were killed. The Sweden and Swan lake districts were the hardest hit, and 11 are reported dead in that vicinity. At Tarry two are reported dead and 15 injured. Lincoln county also suffered severely.

The telegraph and telephone wires are down in every direction and full reports may increase the number of fatalities. Physicians and nurses have been rushed to the stricken districts.

Ed Johnson, a farmer, was totally hurt and his wife and four children and a farm hand were killed when a farm house collapsed.

Ten persons are reported dead at Almyra and 100 injured.

Kansas City Snowbound—
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—The middle west states are being swept by a blizzard today. Kansas City is practically snowbound.

TO THE PEOPLE OF DAYTONA.

On account of certain impressions having gone abroad that the petitioners for the gas franchise have not specified the territory on which it proposes to lay its gas mains, it takes this opportunity of assuring the voters and residents of Daytona that it does agree to lay its gas mains over all streets and avenues bounded by Fairview avenue on the north, South street on the south, Beach street on the east and Ridgewood on the west, inclusive. The mains on the above territory will be installed with the original plant, and will be extended to adjoining territory just as rapidly as business justifies, and the company is willing to make a contract with the city to perform the above.

QUESTIONS OF EDUCATION DISCUSSED

MANY TEACHERS AT SESSIONS OF ASSOCIATION IN ST. LOUIS

FIRST MEETINGS OF THE CON-VENTION OF THE NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION ARE HELD TODAY.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26.—The first session of the joint conference of the department of superintendence and other branches of the National Education association, which will convene all this week, was held by the Society of College Teachers of Education this week. Discussion was centered on a paper read by Professor Edward P.
Luchner of Johns Hopkins university, entitled, "What Should be the Difference in Graduate and Undergraduate Work in Education?"

In this afternoon's session of the society, the first speaker was Professor James F. Lough, of New York university. The subject of Professor Lough's remarks was "Undergraduate Degrees in Education in Various Colleges and Universities." He marveled at the diversity of the subject, matter and method offered by the different departments of the various universities and declared that a certain standard course should be established as a medium for the undergraduate degree in education.

Considerable discussion followed the remarks of the second speaker, who was Professor George F. James, of the University of Minnesota. His topic was "The Relation of Normal Schools to Departments and Schools of Education in Universities." He said that the training of teachers for public schools is the most vital educational problem of the country.

He declared the function of the normal school is primarily to prepare elementary school teachers, and that of the college or university department of education is to give professional training of higher grade.

In the discussion that followed Professor James' address, Professor Elmer E. Jones, of the University of Indiana, said: "There may be sa-tuations in certain states where it is wise for the normal school to undertake the training of secondary teachers. But it would seem preferable to do a minimum of this work.
Skilled teachers in the two fields of work cannot successfully exchange positions. Knowledge of child life does not mean knowledge of adolescent life, nor vice versa."

MANY MEN WANT BIGGER U. S. NAVY

BELIEVE MORE SHIPS NEEDED
AS PROTECTION TO COUNTRY

THIS IS ONE OF THE OBJECTS OF THE NAVY LEAGUE, WHICH INCLUDES MANY CIVILIANS
AMONG MEMBERS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Many men want a bigger navy. But there are more than the navy men who want a bigger navy—witness the Navy League.

February 21 there was held in Washington a convention which assembled eloquently to the nation wide civilian demand for increased protection at sea. The Navy League was the organization under which the convention was held. To the doors of its convention, which met at the New Willard hotel, flocked civilians who have no closer connection with the navy than a vague reminiscence of having dreamed of running away to sea in their boyhood. They are purely and simply civilians, but are so thoroughly convinced that the nation is in need of legislation authorizing a larger navy that they are willing to spend time, effort and money to urge such action by congress.

The officers of the Navy League are for the most part navy and military men, but the mass of membership is civilian. It is not a positive patriotic organization which spends its time on the glory of the flag, but a working institution constituting a national lobby for a bigger navy.

The deliberations of the body were in direct opposition to the democratic sentiment making itself felt in congress, particularly in the lower house, which has manifested a tendency to put a check on naval appropriations. The action of the democratic caucus of the house of representatives in declaring against the authorization of two battleships at this congress was frowned upon severely by the members of the Navy League. It is to defeat just such stagnation on the part of the legislative branch of the government as to the need of the navy, that the Navy League works.

The league is composed of 7,000 members, chiefly civilians, who come from 33 different states in all parts of the United States. Most of these men represent the highest citizenship, being in offices of trust and honor and consequently in positions to do effective work to forward their propaganda.

The Navy League stands on firm foundations. It has for its propaganda, first, the military and naval equipment of the nation as a guarantee of peace; second, as an arm of protection and finally as a weapon of offense and punishment where the national honor is assailed and the national peace imperiled.

It is sound reasoning that preparation for war is an assurance of prolonged peace. In spite of the fact that this doctrine has been preached ever since the days of Washington, it is not one that everybody is enlightened upon. To furnish this enlightenment, is one of the objects of the Navy League.

The league does not bind itself to the navy and its welfare, but extends its activities to the army proposition.
While arguing for an increased navy, it realizes that a navy without an army would be weak and ineffective. The same argument applies, however, to both propositions and with equal force.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S

ADIEU TO INDIA.

Found Large Hospitals For De-crypt Animals.

Other Observations on India, but No Reference to Missions—Foreign Investigation Committee Will Report Findings in Hippodrome Upon Its Return to New York.

Bombay, Feb. 23.—The Committee of the International Bible Students Association for the investigation of Foreign Missions have spent three weeks in India and traveled over three thousand miles. The seven members divided the work amongst them at the various stopping points and will co-labor in the report. The committee will report its findings at a meeting to be held in the New York Hippodrome on March 31. A summary of today's discourse of Pastor Russell in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium is as follows:

I had a great interest in your land and its people before coming to your shores, but my interest has been greatly increased by what I have witnessed during the past three weeks in India—not only in your largest cities, but also in your towns, villages and agricultural districts. As there are no other extremes in the world so great as between the caps of your Himalaya mountains and the wash of your coral strands, 29,000 feet below them, so likewise there can be found no greater contrast socially and financially than between your wealthy princes and your poverty-stricken lower castes. Although such contrasts are deplorable we have no remedy to suggest, except the Divine one—the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom.

Generous instincts of India's Wealthy. Although I have remarked of your hundreds of millions of hopelessly poor, I have not overlooked the fact that some of your wealthy have shown that they are not without generous instincts. Many of your merchant princes have evidently given largely to the charitable institutions, notably in Bombay, large animal hospitals having been provided for decrepit chickens, donkeys, etc.

However we may consider such benefactions, in view of human need and suffering, we cannot overlook the fact that sympathy is there, only waiting for the proper direction, which Messiah's Kingdom will shortly give.

Our forefathers saw the height of God's love for the holy angels and its condescension to the saintly of men, but they did not see its depths. They did not see that the Redemption accomplished by Jesus is ultimately to reach down to and embrace the very humblest and most degraded of humankind, dead as well as alive. How the precious Scriptures which tell of Jesus as the Savior of the world, as well as of the Church, escaped our notice, who can explain?

But surely glad are we that now we can see clearly that the Redeemer is a Propitiation for our sins, the Church's sins, and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.

This fuller appreciation of the lengths and breadths and heights and depths of love Divine is coming to Christian people as a benediction from heaven. Just at the time when many are Higher-Critically repudiating the Bible and its God as unworthy of belief. The true view of God's Word we have intimated, namely, that all the families of the earth are to be blessed by Messiah's Kingdom, and that the Church, in process of election, is to be sharer with her Lord in that Kingdom.

"In the Ages to Come." The heights and depths and lengths and breadths of Divine love toward the elect Church, the Bride of Christ, will not be fully exhibited to angels and to men, even during the glorious period of Messiah's reign. Saint Paul explicitly declares, "In the Ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us through Christ Jesus." (Ephesians II, 6, 7.) Is it asked what opportunity there will be for further favors to be bestowed upon the Church at the conclusion of Messiah's reign?

If our astronomical concepts are correct, all the fixed stars are suns, and around each sun are planets. Are there, then, a thousand blazing suns? Yes, more! Are there ten thousand? Yes, more! Are there ten times ten thousand? Yes, more! Are there ten times a hundred thousand, a million? Yes, more! Are there ten times ten millions, a hundred millions? Yes, more! And if we allow an average of ten planets to each sun this would make more than a thousand million planets, all made not in vain, but eventually to be inhabited.

Alas! our poor minds are bewildered with such manifestations of Divine Power and Wisdom, even as we have already been bewildered in our attempt to appreciate the heights and depths of Divine Love. Will there not indeed, then, be quite a sufficiency of the Divine Program to be outworked through Christ and the Church to justify the Apostle's statement that in the Ages to come God will manifest the exceeding riches of His grace in His loving kindness toward us in Christ Jesus?

Geniuses Not Good Companions. The wife of Charles Dickens is reported to have once said: "I suppose the world needs a few geniuses, but it's a dreadful fate to have to live with one of them." Mrs. Carlyle said the same thing in substance a great many times.

Arbitration. "Papa, what does 'arbitration' mean?" "It means that when two powers of equal strength get hold of a smaller country, they agree to divide it equally."—Life.

Plan of Campaign

In high social circles the girl who wants to cut out another girl orders new dresses and more hats. Among savages she sticks on a few more beads and feathers. But in some middle western towns she rolls up her sleeves, opens the flour bin and cooks something calculated to knock the spots off anything culinary the other girl ever dared dream of.

That was why Mrs. Fruby said to her daughter with a hint of excitement in her voice, "Try him on beaten biscuits, Sadie! And your chocolate marshmallow pudding!" It had been hard enough all her life for Mrs. Fruby to be outdone by Mary Sandler without having to endure seeing Mary Sandler's daughter get ahead of her own Sadie. And of late Rosa Sandler had asked Peter Vernon to dinner entirely too often to suit Mrs. Fruby's plans. So had half a dozen other girls. For Peter Vernon was a matrimonial prize, the like of which a small town does not see more than once in a generation. He had an interest in the big engine works, which made money so fast that it gave the populace the hiccups trying to count it.

Natural jealousy of Mary Sandler made Mrs. Fruby consider Rosa a deadly rival. Rosa was nearly as pretty as Sadie and, moreover, she was a good cook. So were Margaret and Agnes and Carrie, other aspirants. Louise—Mrs. Fruby merely smiled at the idea of Louise.

Being built on solid lines herself, Mrs. Fruby had an imagined contempt for ethereal creatures like Louise, who looked as though a puff of wind might easily remove her from the scene. Louise was of the ethereal, useless kind and Mrs. Fruby knew that no sensible man wanted a helpless wife. Men, she often told Sadie, liked energy and ability in a girl. As for cooking, it was doubtful if Louise could even cook a pan of fudge without burning it.

Peter Vernon was a tall, thin young man with a well set head and a kind, if shrewd, smile. "He's not the sort to get taken in!" Mrs. Fruby said thankfully as she superintended Sadie's work making the beaten biscuit for that night's supper, to which Peter Vernon was coming. "Does your arm ache? Let me beat awhile!"

Peter Vernon liked the beaten biscuit immensely. He ate six. And he had two helpings of the chocolate marshmallow pudding.

"The nearly beat her arm off making those," Sadie's mother confided to him. "But, I tell you, nothing daunts Sadie! When she does a thing she does it!"

"They certainly were mighty good," repeated Peter Vernon.

"We always have 'em Wednesday evenings," said Sadie's mother with a sudden inspiration. "And you drop in that night without waiting to be asked, since you're so fond of 'em!"

"Yes, do!" echoed Sadie.

Beaten biscuits are hard to make. Many were the weary hours Sadie Fruby put in over them, because they had to be made regularly on Wednesday nights. Sometimes Peter dropped in, and if he did not he was certain to be met on the street the next day by Sadie or her mother and pinned down to another date. Mrs. Fruby took his fondness for the marshmallow pudding as an especially good sign.

"You keep it up, Sadie," she told her daughter the evening Peter had stayed a half-hour beyond his usual time. "I can begin to see that you're winning out!"

"I don't know," Sadie said dubiously. "He goes to Isabel's and Margaret's, too—and Louise's!"

"I wouldn't worry," declared her mother. "I guess Isabel can't make biscuit like yours and Margaret's cake is a joke. And you know Louise! Why, you've got 'em all on the run!"

"But he never says anything," Sadie protested. "I mean anything that I could take as—"

"He ain't that kind," declared Mrs. Fruby. "He ain't going to make love to a girl till he's engaged to her! You beat those biscuits longer next time!"

Shortly after that the local newspaper contained the unexpected announcement of the quiet marriage of Peter Vernon and Louise, the ethereal.

Mrs. Fruby, after a hysterical scream when she read the news, told Sadie plainly what she thought of Peter. She talked so vehemently that she did not notice how pale Sadie's cheeks were. Sadie usually was stolid and unmoved.

"Well," Mrs. Fruby said at last, wiping her eyes, "it can't be helped. You'd better stir up some beaten biscuit for supper tonight—it's Wednesday!" Habit was strong in her.

It was then that Sadie voiced a brand new theory of life. "Beaten biscuit!" she echoed grimly. "I never want to see one again! I guess what you eat doesn't count for much, after all!"

Not Looking Too Far Ahead. "What is your boy going to be when he grows up?" "I don't know. We've not got that far yet. We're devoting all our time to ways and means of bringing him safely through his college football period. After that we'll probably choose a career for him."

A Bit Hot, but Loyal. A girl went to India, and at the first New Year's away from home she wrote to her devoted mother: "It is now very hot and I perspire a great deal, but you will be pleased to hear that I am still a member of the Church of England."

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

FURTHER WARNING ABOUT FASTING.

The editor of Good Health warns against fasting without the advice of a physician. He says that whether one eats or not he must consume a certain amount of matter to supply heat and energy and that the faster is in reality gnawing his own bones and that the kidneys are congested with an excess of waste which they fail to eliminate. He would advise special diets rather than fasting, though admitting that short fasts are beneficial in certain cases. Dr. Baseler, a stomach specialist, in the Cyclopaedia and Bulletin of Medicine, aims to show that Up-ton Sinclair's advice on fasting is bad, mentioning a case in which serious injury resulted. Dr. Robinson, editor of the Critic and Guide, has also pointed out some dangers of fasting. Fasting, like every other remedy, has its limitations and its dangers, and no two cases require the same treatment. Sinclair and other advocates of fasting have advised supervision by a physician in all cases. Several cases of serious injury from prolonged fasting have come under my observation, suggesting the advisability of the same caution that is requisite in the application of any other remedy.

NURSES SHOULD NOT SNORE

One of Them Tells How the Habit Keeps Them From Holding Cool Places.

"In all those months I was in the hospital somebody ought to have warned me, I think," said the trained nurse. "Of course I had it from the folks at home that I snored a little, but I never took it seriously until I went on my first case. I found then that it is a serious matter for a nurse to snore."

"I took the case from a nurse whose own health had broken down. The patient was nervous and excited over the contemplated change, and that made my ordeal more severe; a brand new case of my own would have been much easier. Still, we got along fairly well together the first half of the night. He was a kindly man, and soon after midnight he insisted that I should try to get some sleep. I didn't think I'd catch a wink, but by and by I dozed off. It was a fatal sleep for me. The next morning the patient's sister told me about the snoring."

"James could not rest at all," she said. "I heard you in the next room."

"Before night I was looking for another job. Of course I did not have to give up nursing entirely, but the hard cases, where I am required to keep awake every second, are open to me. All those soft snorings that give you a chance to sleep half the night are beyond the reach of the snoring nurse."

Misleading Names.

Practically all the wooden clocks called Dutch are made in the village of Freyburg, in the Black Forest. This misnomer is due to simple mispronunciation—"Deutsch" meaning, of course, German. Nothing is more natural than to assume that India ink comes from India, but it does not, and never did, any more than does India rubber. India ink is a Chinese product, and India rubber comes from South America. Camel's hair brushes are not made from the hair of camels, but from the hair of the tails of Russian and Siberian squirrels. Camel's hair is, however, employed in the manufacture of certain fabrics to be made into shawls, etc., and is sometimes mixed with silk.

Two Exceptions.

The music master says very affably: "Now, you see, children, in a march we always have four beats to a measure, to accommodate the step; for I don't know anything that has three feet, except, perhaps, a milking stool." "Or a yard stick," adds a bright girl in the back row.

Separation Sometimes Good. Being sometimes number between friendship. The great cause of the frequent quarrels between relations is their being so much together.

As to the "Dogdays." The "dogdays" are so called because the Greeks on first beholding the star Sirius with the naked eye were wont to sacrifice a brown dog to appease his wrath, the general belief being that Sirius was the cause of the hot, sultry weather usually attendant upon its appearance, and that on the first morning of its rising the growl and man became afflicted with all manner of burning fevers, hysterics and frenzies. At Argos a festival was held during the dogdays known as "Cynophantes," which means that dogs were killed on sight.

Right to Keep Pigs in London. The freedom of the city of London carries with it, nominally, at any rate, the right to keep pigs in the parish of St. James, Piccadilly. But even were any one disposed to avail himself of this liberty, and if the sanitary authorities failed to object, land in that part of London is somewhat too costly for profitable pig farming.

HE WAS WILLING TO OBLIGE

Young Man Gave Advice on Clothing Though He Came From Gas Company.

"I've come to see about the mantles, miss."

"Oh, yes, I'm so glad you have come so soon; will you step into the drawing room?"

The young man stepped; he was pleased with his pleasant reception.

After awhile she came in and said: "How do?" So sorry to trouble him, but would he mind if they tried the mantles on? Her daughter's was a trifle too full, and her own was a trifle too long, she thought. Perhaps he would be good enough to see.

The young man said he would be only too delighted.

The two elegant mantles in the latest style which were lying across the back of the sofa were donned, and the young man said he thought they looked charming. Yes, perhaps a little alteration was required, but—if they would excuse him he would be glad if they would let him get on with his work and show him the gas burners that were requiring fresh mantles.

Why! Wasn't he from Jiggins & Juggins?

"Oh, no, he was the young man that attended to the mantles from the gas company."

Wonderful "Snow Flower."
The "snow flower," so named because it blooms only in the depth of icy winters, is to be found growing on Siberian soil. When it opens, it is star-shaped, its petals of the same length as the leaves, and half an inch in width. A Russian nobleman took a number of the seeds to St. Petersburg. They were placed in a pot of snow and frozen earth. On the coldest day of the following January the miraculous flower burst through its icy covering, and displayed its beauties to the wondering spectators.

Keep your ambition on the same grade with your opportunities, my son. It's more efficient there. The mosquito, for example, cannot soar so high as an eagle, but he can bully all the Christian graces out of a high-minded man while the eagle is merely making a moving picture of himself.—Exchange.

A Manayunk woman found a chunk of rubber, a piece of automobile tire, in a sausage. In every way the automobile is supplanting the horse.

PIGEONS ON A JAMBOREE

Drink Liquor Spilled in the Street and Gave Real Exhibition of Drunkenness.

A heavy truck loaded high with kegs of liquor was jolting across a line of downtown car tracks when one of the kegs toppled and fell from the top of the pile into the street. It was thoroughly smashed, so the truckman whipped up his team and went his way without stopping. The rum flowed out over the street—one little dent in the paving collecting a visible puddle of it.

In a few minutes a pigeon came fluttering down to drink at the pool thus fortunately provided for thirsty birds. The initial taste was a surprise, but a second and a third soon followed, and soon the pigeon tottered fluttering away, too overcome to fly. Other birds, seeing him there and anxious to wet their parching throats on so sultry a day, followed their brother in his path of wicked intemperance.

Five minutes later a passerby was astonished to see a dozen pigeons in the gutter of the otherwise deserted street, some dancing drunkenly, others already sound asleep. A few feet away a bound of disreputable appearance was creeping up, slowly and a trifle unsteadily, on his unsuspecting and bibulous quarry. As he was almost among the birds his feet went suddenly in several directions and he lay in the gutter among the pigeons, growling sleepily to himself, for he, too, was drunk.

Where Samson Would Shine.

A fond father rendered a dull Sunday afternoon pleasant by telling his small son Bible stories. By and by he told how Samson carried away the great gates of Gaza. Said the son, who had learned much through many fittings: "Oh, daddy, wouldn't he be a fine moving man?"

Bas-Reliefs of the Stone Age.

Some large bas-reliefs dating from the Stone Age have just been discovered at Lanosel, in the French province of Dordogne. They are sculptured on the rock of a shallow grotto, and solely represent animals. It is thought that the primitive sculptors probably refrained from introducing the human figure in art by a tabu similar to the present Mohammedan tabu on such representation. The animals shown in the reliefs are reindeer, oxen, bisons, and a huge horse of prehistoric dimensions.

Irony of Fate.

The irony of fate was disclosed in the story of the man who in an effort to escape a trolley car and an automobile was run over by a hearse.—New York World.

BIG LAND SHOW OPENS IN KANSAS CITY TODAY.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—A combination of a display of the choicest products of farm and orchard from all sections of the United States and an exhibition of the newest mechanical inventions for use in the modern methods of farming and orcharding, is included in the great land show, which opened in a grand hall here this afternoon.

The show is being conducted under the direction of Louis W. Burck, and is receiving the assistance of a committee of all of the most prominent farmers and business men of the southwest. Mr. Burck was one of the big factors in both the Seattle and Buffalo exhibitions and predicts that the land show will be the most successful undertaking of its kind that has ever been attempted.

GREAT WELSH VOCALISTS WERE WELL RECEIVED.

Favorites of the New Daytona theater were treated to a musical feast Saturday and Sunday nights in the appearance of the Welsh vocalists, the Mountain Ash Male Chorus of Wales, for these Welshmen certainly sang.

They were crowded in their first appearance Sunday night, by a good audience, though the house was not crowded, as it should have been for a performance of such exceptional merit. The program included vocal solos, duets, quartets, singing a number of magnificent choruses and a piano solo and all were received with the greatest enthusiasm and applause were given in several instances. The voices and training of these singers are equal and it is not often that a party of Daytona's size is given an opportunity to hear such music. That the entertainment was thoroughly appreciated, however, was evidenced by the applause which followed every number as well as by the high commendation given the performers. For at times, particularly during some of the splendid choruses, there was not the slightest sound of movement in the audience. The entertainment Saturday evening was concluded with the singing of the national anthem, America, and Sunday evening by singing the Lord's prayer.

Almost Reached the Limit.

The other night at a revival a long-winded brother got up and talked for an interminable time in a most repetitious and tiresome manner. He was followed by the pastor, whose earnest words stirred the congregation. A little later the minister asked a stranger in the church, "Are you a Christian?" "Yes," replied the stranger, "but I wouldn't have been much longer, if you hadn't talked just when you did."

SCRUB ON PENINSULA BURNS FLAMES THREATEN COTTAGES

FIRE STILL BURNING NORTH OF HOTEL CLARENDON BUT DANGER TO BUILDINGS BELIEVED TO BE PAST.

About 2 o'clock this afternoon a threatening scrub fire north of the Hotel Clarendon at Seaside caused the fire whistle to be sounded. Manager Kennedy of the Clarendon asked that help be sent over to combat the flames which for awhile threatened the cottages in the neighborhood. The scrub is very dry and burned like tinder but an army of volunteers are at work clearing sand on the fire and the Clarendon portable extinguishers are kept handy in case the fire reaches any of the cottages. No immediate danger is anticipated. The Daytona fire apparatus has been taken to the scene of the fire.

DOUBLE WEDDING AT THE FIRST M. E. PARSONAGE.

A double wedding was celebrated at the First M. E. church parsonage Sunday evening, the contracting parties being E. V. Northam and Miss Beulah V. Hawkins and L. E. McCorkle and Miss Vada Belcor. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of a few of the friends of both couples. Rev. D. H. Baker, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiating.

Mr. Northam has been in the employ of the Daytona Electrical company of this city for the past seven years, coming here from Brunswick, Ga., and his bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hawkins of Point Piment, N. J., who are spending the winter here.

Mr. McCorkle has been a resident of Daytona for a number of years and for the past five years has been in the employ of the Central Grocery company. His bride is also from the north, being from Amherst, Canada, and coming here from that place last fall. The young people have many friends to wish them long and happy married lives.

TEN YEARS AGO.

From the Gazette-News, of Mich. 1, 1902.

Dr. J. P. Beck sustained painful injuries while crossing the Central bridge on his bicycle Wednesday of that week. As a result of the fall he sustained three fractured ribs and the loss of two teeth, as well as bad lacerations on the head and face.

Fred Reed and Miss Floy Hull were married by Rev. C. W. Arnold, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church the previous Sunday evening.

Mrs. Geo. H. Brown, well known in Daytona, died at Arcadia, this state, the 25th of February, so it was recorded.

Cannot Eliminate Love.

A periodical devoted to the drama pleads for plays based on some emotion other than love. The difficulty in producing such plays is that every play must have a hero, and in making a hero the playwright, as well as his audience, almost inevitably adopts the view expressed two thousand years ago by a simile on one of the dead walls of Pompeii: "He who has never loved a woman is not a gentleman."

Cure for Dime Novel Reading.

It was asked recently what could be done to stop boys from reading dime novels, and the reply of one observer was: "Teach dime novels in the high schools and that will soon stop it." I know one or two young folks who will never read Scott, because Ivanhoe was taken up as a school subject.

Save Philosophy.

About the saddest philosophy any woman can have is to aim to make the most of each day as it comes along and not borrow trouble from the future or lament the regretful past. Go through each day with a determination to make it just as useful, cheerful and helpful as possible. If you live out this belief your life cannot help but be successful.
